

How can INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGNERS support you with online course development?

We design instruction and learning experiences

We stay on top of current skills and technologies to help you innovate your teaching

We are here to brainstorm your ideas and make them happen

Our work is collaborative by nature - we build consensus

We are the point persons in your course development, your personal project manager

We understand best practices in teaching and learning

We are your guides to any instructional issues you may face - we are right there with you

We fix things when they break

We build relationships with instructors

We assist in the alignment of objectives, activities and assessments

We make data and research based decisions

Bringing it all together
